

2015 Sears Public Lecture

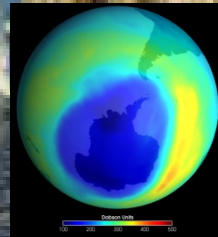

Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Program

Professor Susan Solomon
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Tuesday, June 30th, 5:00 pm
Redfield Auditorium, W.H.O.I.
Reception to follow

“Ozone Depletion: A Science and Policy Success Story”

This talk describes how the combination of science, public policy, technological advances, and the engagement of citizens led to solutions for the risk to the Earth's ozone layer. This remarkable combination holds many interesting lessons for dealing effectively with current environmental challenges.

