

THESIS SUBMISSION CHECKLIST (April 2022)

Official online resources: <https://mit.who.edu/thesis>

MIT Specifications: <https://libraries.mit.edu/archives/thesis-specs/>

WHOI Specifications: https://mit.who.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/24/2022/04/specifications_April-2022.pdf

Signatures:

1. Since COVID-19, MIT and WHOI are not requiring signatures. Have your advisor (s) reply all to your final thesis submission email approving your final thesis. Some MIT departments may require your Joint Committee Chair to approve your final thesis as well.

Printed copies:

1. At least one original thesis on archival paper with original signatures in BLACK INK to WHOI
2. At least two printed copies to MIT on archival paper with original signatures in BLACK INK
 - a. Check with your MIT department administrator for the number of copies
3. Archival paper is available at APO, the MIT Copytech, and some of the MIT departments
4. Your advisor may order additional soft or hardbound thesis copies. WHOI-based advisors must provide an active project number on the thesis reproduction form. MIT-based advisors may pay with credit card. Lea Fraser can contact the MIT department administrator for payment.
5. You may order extra copies of your hardbound thesis using the thesis reproduction form ($45 each as of August 2019). Submit check made out to WHOI (spelled out) and note 'thesis' on the memo line. Send payments to Christine Charette, MS#31.

Electronic copies:

1. Submit electronic thesis to WHOI (Lea Fraser), MIT (Tricia Nesti), and your MIT Department administrator.

Reimbursement for thesis processing fee ($115 charge on MITPAY as of October 2020):

1. Done at MIT—will be charged to your MITPAY account—pay it.
2. Bring proof of payment to your MIT Department Administrator for reimbursement (at least for EAPS students)

Additional documents/tasks for WHOI:

1. Thesis reproduction form
Proof (usually an email) that you have permission to re-print published papers ("copyright approval")
2. Any lab/office keys, WHOI credit card (if applicable).
3. Contact Tatiana Resende at Tatiana.resened@who.edu to schedule an exit interview with the WHOI Dean and Associate Dean. Exit interviews are held after you have submitted your final thesis.

Additional document for MIT:

1. University Microfilm, Inc. (UMI) Form
(<https://libraries.mit.edu/archives/thesis-specs/images/umi-proquest-form.pdf>)

Other notable guidelines:

1. Abstract for thesis needs to be <350 words (
2. Acknowledgements must include funding sources
3. When you print your title page, you should print the page number 2 on the back of the page (the title page should not have a page number, but every page after that should)