

Appendix C: Probability density function plots of power spectral density calculations for Year 3 Cascadia stations. Each row represents two unoriented horizontal channels and one vertical channel for each seismometer. To eliminate noise from the initial settling of the instrument following emplacement, the plots only include data after the instrument has been deployed for one week.

